Residents Protest Re-Zoning Attempt

A large group of angry North Bay area residents protested a petition to change the zoning in their area from single-family to multiple-dwelling at a hearing Tuesday night held by the Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Commission.

The petition was made by local attorney Rubie Griffin to have the zoning changed from R-1 to R-3. Although it was not stated in the petition, Griffin admitted that he had very tentative plans to sell a portion of property to a developer for use as a trailer park. "I cannot give you a definite answer tonight," Griffin emphasized, "but I have been told that a deal for the land could possibly be made if the zoning was changed."

Discussion among the residents, commission members and Griffin became heated several times during the hearing and commission chairman Paul Vegas was forced to quiet the crowd.

Most of the complaints centered around the fact that people had purchased property in that area with the understanding that the zoning would remain single-family dwellings only. One elderly citizen said, "This is the last area in Bay St. Louis that can be used for strictly residential purposes."

Another complaint registered was the fact that land values would drop if the zoning was changed. "We have rebuilt our homes after Hurricane Camille and their value is pretty high, if this happens, our property values will go down," said one resident.

When the discussion centered around the trailer park, Dr. Walter Russo said that it did not matter what was planned, "these people don't want the zoning changed."

The crowd booed twice during the hearing and Wilson Wehre, commission member stated that he did not appreciate that kind of treatment. "We are here to serve you and we act in an advisory capacity to the city council. I do not appreciate this rude and impolite treatment."

At one point during the hearing, Griffin said he was willing to change his petition to include only the land outside of the old corporate limits. Again, the crowd voiced disapproval and Vegas then asked for a more orderly method of addressing the commission.

"There is too much emotion involved. We are here to listen to logical arguments both pro and con," Joseph Marachino, who was at one time a member of the commission, reminded the gathering that any decision made by the commission was not final but was a recommendation to the city council.

Commission member E. J. Marengo made a motion to deny the petition as it was presented and to request that Griffin file a new petition stating in detail what his plans were for the property. Although the motion was seconded by Roger Davis, Vegas told the commission that this was illegal. "Mr. Griffin has filed the petition as prescribed by city ordinance to have zoning changed. His request for a trailer park would be the second step and would not be included in his original petition."

Marengo then made a motion to deny the petition "period" but it died for lack of a second. Davis said he could not second the motion because "I would like to know more of the facts before I make a final decision." The commission tabled the decision until its regular meeting on June 20.

Board Calls Hearing On Ingram Explosion

A public hearing on June 12 has been called by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to learn the cause of the explosion last Wednesday at Ingram Industries in Kiln.

Board president Dolph Kellar said that the purpose of the hearing was to determine the need for formulation of rules and regulations which would govern safety in plants of this type.

The board also unanimously passed resolutions extending sympathies to members of the families of the five women killed in the Ingram explosion.

In other action, the supervisors have called a special election for June 27 for election of a constable in Beat Three. The present constable, Donald Necaise resigned to take a civil service job. Candidates must file at least ten days prior to the election.

A plan to provide workmen's compensation to those employed on road maintenance in the county was adopted by the supervisors. The board instructed Chancery Clerk John D. Rutherford Jr. to obtain rates from three local insurance agencies.

The board will meet Tuesday, June 6.

The Board of Supervisors passed a resolution Monday commending 13-year-old Michael Schuler for turning in the first report of the explosion at Ingram. Schuler is a student at Annunciation School in Kiln and is the son of Mrs. Veronica Schuler.

Managers Will Serve During GOP Primary

The Republican primary will be held Tuesday, June 6. Dr. John Levens, Hancock County Republican chairman, announced that in most areas, with the exception of the Ansley, Catahoula and Fenton precincts, the Republican boxes will be in the same building as the Democratic boxes. ## Nine Arrested In Drug Raids

In a continuing effort to crack down on drug users in this area, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Waveland Police arrested nine persons this week and charged them with possession of marijuana.

In a raid Monday afternoon four Bay St. Louis juveniles and one adult were arrested on a dead end road near Waveland Ave. in Waveland. All were charged with possession of marijuana and the juveniles were released to their parents. Michael Dahn, 19, of Waveland, was released on a $500 bond. Members of the Waveland

Police Department and Ronnie Peterson, narcotics investigator for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department made the arrests.

At 12:30 a.m. Tuesday police raided a house on Lower Bay Road and arrested Sharon Ann Page, 19, Shoreline Park; James Wilkins, 23 and Martin Vaneer, 22, both of Bay St. Louis; and Joseph Nelson, 20, of Waveland. All were charged with illegal possession of firearms. Arresting officers were Sheriff's Deputies Fairley Necaise and James Ladner; Bill Tate and Bob Harvey, Auxiliary Department.

A summer program will begin June 5 for the children attending the Special School in Clermont Harbor.

The children will be picked up at 9:30 a.m. and will have arts and crafts classes in the

Two Arrested On Stolen Goods Charge

Two New Orleans men were arrested Tuesday morning in Pearlington and charged with possession of stolen goods amounting to approximately $34,000.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department identified the two men as Wylie Thomas Favre, 46, and Ronald David Ronquille, 22. Favre is a former resident of Pearlington and is now in the Hancock County jail under $25,000 bond. A bond of $10,000 has been set for Ronquille.

Arrested as material witnesses were David deputies Fairley Necaise and Kingsbury, 21, Arthur James Ladner, auxiliary Desavigner, 21, and Deborah deputy A.J. Cuevas; T.P. Yvette Weldon, 22, all from Taylor, special investigator for New Orleans. The three are in the Mississippi Highway the county jail on $2,000 bond Saffey Patrol; and Pat each.

According to Hancock Fish Commission Warden.

County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, three LaTite skiffs, a Ford Diesel tractor a camper trailer and a Pontiac automobile have been recovered. Ladner said that the skiffs, the camper and the car were stolen from Louisiana.

Ladner said that Favre had allegedly left the goods with various people in Pearlington asking them to hold them for him until "he could move back to Pearlington from New Orleans."

Aiding Ladner in the investigation and arrests were David deputies Fairley Necaise and Kingsbury, 21, Arthur James Ladner, auxiliary Desavigner, 21, and Deborah deputy A.J. Cuevas; T.P. Yvette Weldon, 22, all from Taylor, special investigator for New Orleans. The three are in the Mississippi Highway the county jail on $2,000 bond Saffey Patrol; and Pat each.

A Fish Story

What would you do if you hooked a 50-pound drum fish on a 30-pound test line? And you were fishing off the middle of the Bay Bridge, a long way from the water line?

When James Peters of Pearlington found he had fifty pounds of fighting mad fish on the end of his line last week, he knew he had a problem but James said he was determined to land the fish. Luckily, he had two friends fishing with him, each of whom was angling with trout hooks on 30-pound lines.

When James fought the drum to a temporary standstill below the bridge, his two companions, Troy Haynes and Robert Whaves, each carefully dropped his line into the fish's gaping mouth like grappling hooks.

It took a lot of coordination and more than a little effort for the three men to pull the drum by hand up onto the bridge but they managed.

James triumphantly brought the piscatorial giant home to share with family and friends, but not before a picture was taken to prove the validity of his fish story.

POLICE REPORTS

The Bay St. Louis police department received 50 calls during the period from May 22 to May 30.

The only major incident was a two-car collision on May 27 at Washington Rd. and Highway 90. Drivers of the cars were John Gallagher and Edward Johnson.

Buoy Will Transmit Environmental Data

The first of a series of advanced experimental buoys for automatically gathering oceanographic and meteorological data from the marine environment will be stationed in the Gulf of Mexico June 16, the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration announced today. The 100-ton buoy will be anchored in the Gulf in almost two miles of water about 225 miles from Gulfport. It is scheduled to remain on site through 1974, transmitting environmental data.

The information from this instrumented platform and others that will follow is designed to fill an environmental data gap in maritime areas of the globe. Eventually, the establishment of a network of automatic buoys throughout the oceans, coastal waters, bays, estuaries and large lakes will provide data required for predicting weather, sea conditions, fish migration and other conditions with an impact on man and his endeavors.

The program to develop a national system of environmental data reporting buoys is being conducted by NOAA's National Data Buoy Center, headed by James W. Winchester. The instrumented platforms are being prepared for testing at the Center's facility at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility in Bay St. Louis, Hancock County.

Six of the large buoys are scheduled to be stationed in the Gulf during the next three or four months for test and evaluation. They are designed to withstand 150-knot hurricane winds, 60-foot waves and 10-knot currents. Each platform can carry more than 100 sensors to measure and report oceanic and atmospheric conditions. The National Data Buoy Center will test and evaluate the buoys to determine which are best for the national data buoy program. The systems, under development by NOAA, will be capable of adaptation to allow satellites to collect and store the data for read out by a command and data acquisition station.

Who's To Blame?

As always in time of "unnatural" disaster, the first question is "who's at fault?"

One can ponder the answer into infinity and in most situations, such as the last one in Hancock County, the answer is - no one, and everyone. Of the answer is never known.

As literally hundreds of fire fighters, law enforcement officers, families of workers, press and others watched in horror as flames and smoke from the Ingram plant in Kiln rolled skyward, each one asked himself the question. The next day, there were five deaths.

That day and each succeeding day, conjecture and opinions mounted. Everyone had a theory. There was those who said the plant buildings should have been made of blast-proof concrete, instead of frame and metal. Others said defective equipment in the tunnel was the cause. Still others maintained that employees were not made to follow safety regulations, or that county officials should have investigated the operation sooner, and so on, and on, and on, ad infinitum.

No one knows what the Ingram executives thought. Silent and uncommunicative, they have been closeted for a week on the burning plant site with federal authorities, conducting an investigation into the cause of the catastrophe.

Hancock County supervisors have called for a report of the investigation and the date has been set for June 12, at the Court House. The hearing will be open to the public and the public should attend, although it is extremely doubtful that all the facts will be made public.

Tragically, the only ones who could supply the real answer to the questions - are dead.

Demo Or GOP?

A strong two-party system is beginning to emerge in Mississippi. This Tuesday there will be not only a Democratic primary but a Republican primary also, an event that must be a first for Hancock County.

Voters are reminded that they have a choice - they may vote in either primary because Mississippi voter registration does not specify a definite party affiliation. It should also be emphasized that if you vote in the Republican primary this will not affect your right to vote in the general election.

This paper does not endorse any candidate nor does it favor any one political party. However, a strong two-party contest can only benefit this county and its people.

Tips To Veterans And Dependents

PREPARED BY CHESTER CURVEY HANCOCK COUNTY VETERANS SERVICE OFFICER

1. Veterans released from active duty after Jan. 31, 1955 have eligibility from Educational Training until eight years after release from active duty or until May 31, 1974 whichever is later.
2. Eligible Veterans may pursue, on a full time basis only, an approved program of apprenticeship or OJT and receive supplemental pay from the VA, for a period not to exceed two years, in addition to their regular pay from their employer.
3. Eligible Veterans may receive an Educational Allowance to complete Grade School and High School without a charge against their basic entitlement for education above the High School level.
4. Widows and children of deceased Veterans of widows and children of living Veterans whose death or TOTAL AND PERMANENT disability was the result of Military Service, or are missing in action or prisoners of war, may be eligible for Educational Assistance.
5. Any eligible Veteran enrolled in and pursuing a post-secondary course of education, on a half time basis or more, who because of a marked deficiency in a subject, may receive tutorial services.

NOW IS THE DAY OF VICTORY

The present is the time for Victory. Let your aim ever be to glorify the Lord Jesus now. So many Christians let present opportunities slip by unused, because their minds are fixed upon something they are going to do tomorrow or next Sunday. School yourself to live in the present. How can Christ Jesus manifest forth His glory - Himself through me today - now, this very moment?

Perhaps the secret of Victory in Christ lies just here. God gives needed grace just when it is needed.

"Have you dying grace?" asked a lady of Charles Spurgeon. "No, madam, and I do not want it now - but praise God, I have living grace," was his reply.

Surrender, Let go. Then look to Christ in faith! Let God

Our readers write

Dear Sir:

Fellow citizens and taxpayers of Waveland, attention! One evening when you come home from work and are denied the right of access to your home by the bureaucracy of small town politics who order a concrete-steel reinforced bridge culvert removed in your absence, what do you do? This is a problem facing Mr. Gene Davis of 220 Waveland Ave. He still has not received an answer.

As the actual incident happened on a Friday while he was at work, he returned to find his car blocked in and his truck blocked out. Since he was told the city street dept. doesn't work on Saturday or Sunday he had to pay a large electrician's bill to have electricity re-routed to his truck to keep his dairy products from spoiling. Transportation had to be borrowed to get household supplies and this has gone on since May 12th of this year.

Then Monday came and went. Still no replacement of his destroyed property. And no real answers. Only avoidance of an issue which needed resolving as soon as possible. And of this date, there has been not one thing done. Where are the elective officials of our town who promised to help the taxpayers. Where are they hiding? They are right where they can be seen to take a bow for something done right (for a change) but where are these fine people when a taxpayer and his property have been so sadly misused. You find them, we can't. We think there should be some action taken on this matter but elected officials sit on the elected seats and ignore the common man such as you and I. Help for the taxpayers? Much more like harassment! But let's be fair. They offered to replace this culvert if Mr. Davis would buy one. Now Mr. Davis has to buy something he can't eat, something that would not have had to be replaced if they'd have left his property alone to start with. Think about it, people, you could be next.

BOB R. GLOVER

Dear Sir,

Now is the time we have to take stock with ourselves. This holocaust at the Ingram Plant should be an example to us all. It is at times like this that I ask myself "What precautions did this plant have for Fire Protection?" What plant, what school, what business on business office in Hancock County has a Working Fire Protection Program? Do we talk over with our children and employees what to do in case of fire? Yes, we have tried to instill the need of fire inspections, fire drills and a fire prevention plan for Hancock County during the past year and I will ask one more question of the people in charge of all these schools, factories and business places: When was the last time you had a Fire Drill? Fire Prevention is everyone's concern.

I would be remiss in my duties as Fire Prevention Chairman if I failed to thank all of the Fire Depts. in Hancock County and the Mississippi

Forestry Department, also the fine Departments from NASA, Pass Christian, Biloxi and Sheriff Ladner and his fine Deputies for the splendid work they did since the fire at the Ingram Plant on May 24 at 3 p.m.

I am very proud of our Fire Departments and of all the Volunteer firemen who left their work to assist in putting out the fire.

Let us not get complacent because we have good Fire Departments but let us learn a bitter lesson from this explosion. This could happen in our school, church, office or in our home. Be ready, cleanup the trash laying around and set aside one hour a month and spend a little time preventing fires, remember the life you save may be a loved one.

Sincerely,

George M. Cleary

Chairman Fire Prevention Comm.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor:

For the first time since the Civil War Reconstruction Era the "two-party system" comes to Hancock County. The Democratic Primary election will be held on Tuesday, June 6 - just as it has always been. In that Primary, voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Democratic Party will select a Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative, and a State Supreme Court Judge.

What is different - and important is that at the same voting place, on the same date, there will be a Republican Primary in which voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Republican Party will select a Republican candidate for the same Senate and Representative posts.

A voter may vote in the Democratic Primary or the Republican Primary - but not in both. The way you vote in the Primary has no effect on the way you can vote in the General Election in November and no effect on the way you can vote in future Primary Elections.

Study the candidates. Study the party principles. Vote for the best for Hancock County, Mississippi, and the Nation.

Sincerely,

Fred Wagner

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

City-County Library Writer

We have been perusing a journal issued by a comparatively new organization called the Mississippi Coast Historical and Genealogical Society. Though the emphasis of the Society to date seems to be put on the genealogical background of its members, the new journal has some very interesting historical facts and reminiscences relating to the southern counties of the State.

Our contact with the new group is through John and Gloria Moran of Hattiesburg, interesting people who are working hard to make the Society a worthy partner of the older Historical Society of Jackson. Mr. Moran's family is native to these parts and he spent his boyhood across the bay just behind the old Pine Hills hotel.

It is good to have emphasis directed to southern Mississippi history and culture. Lots of people living right on the gulf shores know more about Natchez and Jackson and Vicksburg than they do about the interesting background of Pearl River or Pascagoula or the fascinating country behind Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis. The current journal of the M.C.H.G. Society (which you will find in the Bay St. Louis Public Library) carries a partial listing of points of interest in the gulf coast area, and by reading it you will get many ideas for short trips to places of historical note - right in your own back yard, so to speak.

This list, prepared by Anthony Ragunin of Biloxi, is not complete, and we hope that Mr. Ragunin will soon supplement it with additional data on points of interest along the Pearl River and in the historically rich Catahoula country.

Every State has its quota of interesting events in the past, but few can surpass this one for variety and excitement. A short drive from Pearl River to Biloxi will sweep you into the midst of events which were of paramount importance in the development of the South. Genealogy blends itself

Forestry Report

With summer at hand and many families vacationing, the Mississippi Forestry Commission offers some advice to the parents of all children who enjoy the woods either at home or away.

Children mean only to taste, but with many a common garden tree or shrub, a taste is all that's necessary to bring tragic results.

When the forest was in every settler's front yard, death was an every day event. Two hundred years ago the tender foot trying to live off the land often unintentionally met agonizing death by no other hand but his own. He died not of gunshot or silent blade but of a wrong guess in the matter of what to eat. If the squirrels ate of a tree the beginning outdoorman felt he might safely do the same and often paid dearly for his error.

Today, when we never lack for wholesome food, we wouldn't think of eating the leaves or fruit of forest trees and shrubs though they may appear very tempting. Yet children seem to wonder about the taste of the beautiful red, yellow, lavender or pink berries we find on ornamental shrubs. Shiny leaves as glossy as candied fruit, seem to appear sugar coated to unwary children just discovering the wonders of their environment.

Following are some basic precautions regarding plants in the woods or garden.

Any tree or shrub having dark green leaves (like the dark stripes on a watermelon) is more than likely to be toxic. Mountain laurel, Rhododendron, oleander, boxwood, and privet qualify in this class. Any tree bearing seeds in pods, such as black locust, ought to be left alone; this includes vines such as wisteria. Any plant having berries of a bright color such as holly, yew, elderberry (that's right, most of the time elderberry is full of prussic acid) or dogwood will have chemicals in its bark, leaves or fruit that may produce violent illness or death.

As with all things there are exceptions in nature, but the characteristics above apply to the majority of shrubs and trees capable of striking down the inquisitive nibbler or taster. Please be careful and have a happy vacation.

automatically with history, and the Society's interest in it is shown by the number of interesting articles in the Journal about the old coast families. ## We Support Strickland

We note with pleasure that Roy B. Strickland, esteemed Higgins and Gulfport attorney, who makes his home in Higgins, is in the race for Chancery Judge No. 3.

The people who know him best elected him to the State Legislature in 1959, and reelected him in 1963. While in the Legislature he served in leadership roles.

He has prior experience as a chancellor, having served the unexpired term of the late Judge Robert Buntin. Furthermore, we have a tradition in our district of electing outstanding chancellors and circuit judges.

Former Judge Strickland has served one term and has been reelected to another term as chairman of the Stone County Democratic Party. He is active in his church, president of his FTA, active in several fraternal, civic and veterans organizations, and daily represents people with virtues and frailties.

It is for these and other reasons that The Enterprise herewith endorses the candidacy of Roy B. Strickland and urges you to do likewise.

The Andrews home is designed for youngsters, friends, pets. A retreat, but one where politics is not a forbidden word. For Donnis, wife and mother of four and County Health Nurse, politics makes life more meaningful. Son Bill III is a student at The University of Southern Mississippi - Bill's wife, Martha, works for a leading Lamar County physician. To daughters Phyllis and Beth and son Robert Franklin, politics means work and trips and people...and a pride that goes with the job of doing for others.

BILL ANDREWS BELIEVES...We should end the war in Vietnam honorably...NOW...If we are committed to price controls...fairness to every segment of the economy must be guaranteed. ...Providing youth a more positive voice in planning for their future is the best way to help them. After all their future, and ours, depends on them. ...The good sense and good will of citizens, with help of government assistance, direction, force only if necessary, will provide programs to preserve both the environmental and economic "atmosphere" needed for our area, our fellow citizens. We must work together NOW to secure governmental aid that will provide environmental protection and economic growth without greater inflation. ...The aged are entitled to living in the time of heavy inflation, rather than a meager subsistence-based upon standards of wages attained during the depression years. Welfare programs for the really needy deserve every consideration. ...Tax loopholes that permit the favored few immensely wealthy to dodge payment of their fair share of the tax burden must be closed; Tax reduction for the "average" tax payer - a must!

BILL ANDREWS...experienced, able, available...ready NOW...has proved his ability, dedication to his fellow citizens over and over again. He knows how to get the job done with all of the effectiveness of youthful maturity, wisdom, education and experience, understanding and devotion of a life motivated by a deep concern for fellow citizens, community, state and nation. He is an individualist, belonging to no one; working hard for everyone to help make of our area the best place in the world to live; study, work, raise a family, enjoy life. He has always been...he will always be available whenever, wherever he is needed.

Who's To Blame?

As always in time of "unnatural" disaster, the first question is "who's at fault?"
One can ponder the answer into infinity and in most situations, such as the last one in Hancock County, the answer is - NO ONE, and everyone. Of the answer is never known.
As literally hundreds of fire fighters, law enforcement officers, families of workers, press and others watched in horror as flames and smoke from the Ingram plant in Kiln rolled skyward, each one asked himself the question: "The next day, there were five deaths."
That day and each succeeding day, conjecture and opinions mounted. Everyone had a theory. There was those who said the plant buildings should have been made of blast-proof concrete, instead of frame and metal. Others said defective equipment in the tunnel was the cause. Still others maintained that employees were not made to follow safety regulations, or that county officials should have investigated the operation sooner, and so on, and on, and on, and on, and on, and on.
No one knows what the Ingram executives thought. Silent and uncommunicative, they have been closeted for a week on the burning plant site with federal authorities, conducting an investigation into the cause of the catastrophe.
Hancock County supervisors have called for a report of the investigation and the date has been set for June 12, at the Court House. The hearing will be open to the public and the public should attend, although it is extremely doubtful that all the facts will be made public.
Tragically, the only ones who could supply the real answer to the questions - are dead.

Demo Or GOP?

A strong two-party system is beginning to emerge in Mississippi. This Tuesday there will be not only a Democratic primary but a Republican primary also, an event that must be a first for Hancock County.
Voters are reminded that they have a choice—they may vote in either primary because Mississippi voter registration does not specify a definite party affiliation. It should also be emphasized that if you vote in the Republican primary this will not affect your right to vote in the general election.
This paper does not endorse any candidate nor does it favor any one political party. However, a strong two-party contest can only benefit this county and its people.

Tips To Veterans And Dependents

PREPARED BY CHESTER CURVEY HANCOCK COUNTY VETERANS SERVICE OFFICER

1. Veterans released from active duty after Jan. 31, 1955 have eligibility from Educational Training until eight years after release from active duty - or until May 31, 1974 whichever is later.
2. Eligible Veterans may pursue, on a full time basis only, an approved program of apprenticeship or OJT and receive supplemental pay from the VA, for a period not to exceed two years, in addition to their regular pay from their employer.
3. Eligible Veterans may receive an Educational Allowance to complete Grade School and High School without a charge against their basic entitlement for education above the High School level.

NOW IS THE DAY OF VICTORY

The present is the time for Victory. Let your aim ever be to glorify the Lord Jesus now. So many Christians let present opportunities slip by unused, because their minds are fixed upon something they are going to do tomorrow or next Sunday. School yourself to live in the present. How can Christ Jesus manifest forth His glory Himself through me today - now, this very moment?

Perhaps the secret of Victory in Christ lies just here. God gives needed grace just when it is needed.

"Have you dying grace?" asked a lady of Charles Spurgeon. "No, madam, and I do not want it now - but praise God, I have living grace," was his reply.

Surrender, Let go. Then look to Christ in faith. Let God

Dear Sir:

Fellow citizens and taxpayers of Waveland, attention! One evening when you come home from work and are denied the right of access to your home by the bureaucracy of small-town politics who order a concrete-steel reinforced bridge culvert removed in your absence, what do you do? This is a problem facing Mr. Gene Davis of 220 Waveland Ave. He still has not received an answer.

As the actual incident happened on a Friday while he was at work, he returned to find his car blocked in and his truck blocked out. Since he was told the city street dept. doesn't work on Saturday or Sunday he had to pay a large electrician's bill to have electricity rerouted to his truck to keep his dairy products from spoiling. Transportation had to be borrowed to get household supplies and this has gone on since May 12th of this year.

Then Monday came and went. Still no replacement of his destroyed property. And no real answers. Only avoidance of an issue which needed resolving as soon as possible. And of this date, there has been not one thing done. Where are the elective officials of our town who promised to help the taxpayers. Where are they hiding? They are right where they can be seen to take a bow for something done right (for a change) but where are these fine people when a taxpayer and his property have been so badly misused. You find them, we can't. We think there should be some action taken on this matter but elected officials sit on the elected seats and ignore the common man such as you and I. Help for the taxpayers? Much more like harassment! But let's be fair. They offered to replace this culvert if Mr. Davis would buy one. Now Mr. Davis has to buy something he can't eat, something that would not have had to be replaced if they'd have left his property alone to start with. Think about it, people, you could be next.

BOB R. GLOVER

Dear Sir,

Now is the time we have to take stock with ourselves. This holocaust at the Ingram Plant should be an example to us all. It is at times like this that I ask myself "What precautions did this plant have for Fire Protection?" What plant, what school, what business on business office in Hancock County has a Working Fire Protection Program? Do we talk over with our children and employees what to do in case of fire? Yes, we have tried to instill the need of fire inspections, fire drills and a fine Prevention Plan for Hancock County during the past year and I will ask one more question of the people in charge of all these schools, factories, and business places: When was the last time you had a Fire Drill? Fire Prevention is everyone's concern.

I would be remiss in my duties as Fire Prevention Chairman if I failed to thank all of the Fire Depts. in Hancock County and the Mississippi

Forestry Department, also the fine Departments from NASA, Pass Christian, Biloxi and Sheriff Ladner and his fine Deputies for the splendid work they did since the fire at the Ingram Plant on May 24 at 3 p.m.

I am very proud of our Fire Departments and of all the Volunteer firemen who left their work to assist in putting out the fire.
Let us not get complacent because we have good Fire Departments but let us learn a bitter lesson from this explosion. This could happen in our school, church, office in our home. Be ready, cleanup the trash laying around and set aside one hour a month and spend a little time preventing fires, remember the life you save maybe a loved one.

Sincerely,

George M. Cleary

Chairman Fire Prevention Comm.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor:
For the first time since the Civil War Reconstruction Era the "two-party system" comes to Hancock County. The Democratic Primary election will be held on Tuesday, June 6 - just as it has always been. In that Primary, voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Democratic Party will select a Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative, and a state Supreme Court Judge.
What is different - and important is that at the same voting place, on the same date, there will be a Republican Primary in which voters who are in sympathy with the principles of the Republican Party will select a Republican candidate for the same Senate and Representative posts.

A voter may vote in the Democratic Primary - or the Republican Primary - but not in both. The way you vote in the Primary has no effect on the way you can vote in the General Election in November and no effect on the way you can vote in future Primary Elections.

Study the candidates. Study the party principles. Vote for the best for Hancock County, Mississippi, and the Nation.

Sincerely,

Fred Wagner

Forestry Report

With summer at hand and many families vacationing, the Mississippi Forestry Commission offers some advice to the parents of all children who enjoy the woods either at home or away.

Children mean only to taste, but with many a common garden tree or shrub, a taste is all that's necessary to bring tragic results.
When the forest was in every settler's front yard, death was an every day event. Two hundred years ago the tender foot trying to live off the land often unintentionally met agonizing death by no other hand but his own. He did not of gunshot or silent blade but of a wrong guess in the matter of what to eat. If the squirrels ate of a tree the beginning outdoorman felt he might safely do the same and often paid dearly for his error.

Today, when we never lack for wholesome food, we wouldn't think of eating the leaves or fruit of forest trees and shrubs though they may appear very tempting. Yet, children seem to wonder about the taste of the beautiful red, yellow, lavender or pink berries we find on ornamental shrubs. Shiny leaves as glossy as candied fruit, seem to appear sugar coated to unwary children just discovering the wonders of their environment. Following are some basic precautions regarding plants in the woods or garden.

Any tree or shrub having dark green leaves (like the dark stripes on a watermelon) is more than likely to be toxic. Mountain laurel, Rhododendron, oleander, boxwood, and privet qualify in this class. Any tree bearing seeds in pods, such as black locust, ought to be left alone; this includes vines such as wisteria. Any plant having berries of a bright color such as holly, yew, elderberry (that's right, most of the time elderberry is full of prussic acid) or dogwood will have chemicals in its bark, leaves or fruit that may produce violent illness or death.

As with all things there are exceptions in nature, but the characteristics above apply to the majority of shrubs and trees capable of striking down the inquisitive nibbler or taster. Please be careful and have a happy vacation.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

City-County Library Writer

We have been perusing a journal issued by a comparatively new organization called the Mississippi Coast Historical and Genealogical Society. Though the emphasis of the Society to date seems to be put on the genealogical background of its members, the new journal has some very interesting historical facts and reminiscences relating to the southern counties of the State.

Our contact with the new group is through John and Gloria Moran of Hattiesburg, interesting people who are working hard to make the Society a worthy partner of the older Historical Society of Jackson. Mr. Moran's family is native to these parts and he spent his boyhood across the bay just behind the old Pine Hills hotel.

It is good to have emphasis directed to southern Mississippi history and culture. Lots of people living right on the gulf shores know more about Natchez and Jackson and Vicksburg than they do about the interesting background of Pearl River or Pascagoula or the fascinating country behind Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis. The current Journal of the M.C.H.G. Society (which you will find in the Bay St. Louis Public Library) carries a partial listing of points of interest in the gulf coast area, and by reading it you will get many ideas for short trips to places of historical note - right in your own back yard, so to speak.

This list, prepared by Anthony Ragusin of Biloxi, is not complete, and we hope that Mr. Ragusin will soon supplement it with additional data on points of interest along the Pearl River and in the historically rich Catahoula country.

Every State has its quota of interesting events in the past, but few can surpass this one for variety and excitement. A short drive from Pearl River to Biloxi will sweep you into the midst of events which were of paramount importance in the day, even the offshore islands figured, some largely, in the development of the South. Genealogy blends itself automatically with history, and the Society's interest in it is shown by the number of interesting articles in the Journal about the old coast families. Of especial note in this issue is a long listing of tombstone markings in the Evergreen cemetery at Ocean Springs and of wills registered in the courthouse of Harrison county; what long-forgotten tragedies are suggested in some of the bequests. "This is all that I give her (my granddaughter) in consequence of her inhuman treatment of her mother and myself."

We endorse the Society's appeal for new members, and wish a long continuance of its interesting Journal. The address is P.O. Box 513, Biloxi.

ROY B. STRICKLAND

For Chancellor, Place 3

QUALIFIED

1. Chancery Judges, 1966-
2. Current Master in Chancery
3. City Judge 1967-72
4. Jr. College And Ole Miss Law School Training
5. Endorsed By Those Who Know Him Best.

We Support Strickland

We note with pleasure that Roy B. Strickland, esteemed Wiggins and Gulfport attorney, who makes his home in Wiggins is in the race for Chancery Judge No. 3.

The people who know him best elected him to the State Legislature in 1959, and reelected him in 1963. While in the Legislature he served in leadership roles.

He has prior experience as a chancellor, having served the unexpired term of the late Judge Robert Buntin. Furthermore, we have a tradition in our district of electing outstanding chancellors and circuit judges.

Former Judge Strickland has served one term and has been reelected to another term as chairman of the Stone County Democratic Party. He is active in his church, president of his PTA, active in several fraternal, civic and veterans organizations, and daily represents people with virtues and fratilities.

It is for these and other reasons that The Enterprise herewith endorses the candidacy of Roy B. Strickland and urges you to do likewise.

(Reprint from The Stone County Enterprise as of April, 1972.)
(Submitted and Approved By Roger T. Clark, Campaign Manager, Paid For by Hancock County Lawyers.)

- LEADERSHIP
1. ELECTED TO LEGISLATURE, 1959
  2. RE-ELECTED TO LEGISLATURE, 1963
  3. DEMOCRATIC PARTY CHAIRMAN 1967-72
  4. GULF-COAST JR. COLLEGE LAWYER 1964-72
  5. HARRISON CO., MISS. AND AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION
  6. SUCCESSFUL GULF-COAST ATTORNEY
  7. SAM OWEN TROPHY FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE CONTRIBUTIONS

EXPERIENCED

ROY STRICKLAND SERVED THE UNEXPIRED TERM OF THE LATE CHANCELLOR ROBERT "BOB" BUNTIN. THE STATE SUPREME COURT SAID HE DID A GOOD JOB. STRICKLAND WILL ADMINISTER THIS OFFICE IN THE ESTABLISHED HIGH TRADITION. ASK LAWYER ABOUT STRICKLAND'S QUALIFICATIONS!

Help Elect Bill Andrews the leading candidate U.S. Congressman-5th District, Mississippi

BILL ANDREWS IS...A Purvis attorney, born in Jones county of a pioneer Mississippi family, and reared in Purvis, Lamar County. He attended the public schools of Jones and Lamar Counties, Purvis High School, Pearl River Junior College, The University of Southern Mississippi, The University of Mississippi Law School; he is a graduate of Mississippi State University. He was admitted to the practice of law August 1919. Member Mississippi and American Bar Associations; World War II veteran, Bronze Star, European Service. He has served in the Mississippi state legislature; has represented the Board of Supervisors and Board of Education in his county; municipalities; city, county, state and federal agencies of many and varied responsibilities.

The Andrews home is designed for youngsters, friends, pets. A retreat, but one where politics is not a forbidden word. For Dennis, wife and mother of four and County Health Nurse, politics makes life more meaningful. Son Bill III is a student at The University of Southern Mississippi. Bill's wife, Martha, works for a leading Lamar County physician. To daughters Phyllis and Beth and son Robert Franklin, politics means work and trips and people...and a pride that goes with the job of doing for others.

BILL ANDREWS BELIEVES...We should end the war in Vietnam honorably...NOW.

...If we are committed to price controls...fairness to every segment of the economy must be guaranteed.

...Providing youth a more positive voice in planning for their future is the best way to help them. After all their future, and ours, depends on them.

...The good sense and good will of citizens, with help of government assistance, direction, force only if necessary, will provide programs to preserve both the environmental and economic "atmosphere" needed for our area, our fellow citizens. We must work together NOW to secure governmental aid that will provide environmental protection and economic growth without greater inflation.

...The aged are entitled to social security benefits to maintain a decent standard of living in the time of heavy inflation, rather than a meager subsistence based upon standards of wages attained during the depression years.

Welfare programs for the really needy deserve every consideration.

...Tax loopholes that permit the favored few immensely wealthy to dodge payment of their fair share of the tax burden must be closed; Tax reduction for the "average" tax payer - a must

BILL ANDREWS...experienced, able, available...ready NOW...has proved his ability, dedication to his fellow citizens over and over again. He knows how to get the job done with all of the effectiveness of youthful maturity, wisdom, education and experience, understanding and devotion of a life motivated by a deep concern for fellow citizens, community, state and nation. He is an individualist, belonging to no one, working hard for everyone to help make of our area the best place in the world to live, study, work, raise a family, enjoy life. He has always been...he will always be available whenever, wherever he is needed.

There are many issues; none that cannot be solved if we work together.

gives you a chance to vote for the man, not the party. Here's how it works: when you go to the polling place, you'll see two ballot boxes one for each party. Go over, tell the person sitting there 'I want to vote for Gil Carmichael' and he'll direct you to the right table. Sign the register and vote. That's all there is to it.

You see, the party's only function is to provide candidates. You are an INDEPENDENT VOTER, and you DON'T HAVE TO REGISTER AS a Republican or Democrat. You're a voter. And by voting for Gil Carmichael, You'll be voting as a Mississippian, proud of your state and yourself.

WHAT ARE THEY WORTH TO YOU?

THIS AD IS PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE BY

SHOPLIFTING

THE SILENT CRIME!

The price tag may seem high but the price will be even higher if you try to get it for nothing by shoplifting. Stores have been hit so badly by stealing that they've been forced to protect themselves against losses by tightening security measures and prosecuting offenders. That means your chances of getting caught are greater, as well as the risk of having a police record for the rest of your life.

When stores are faced with soaring operating expenses due to thefts, they're forced to pass added costs on to you, the consumer, with higher prices. When you look at that big price tag, remember . . . shoplifting costs everyone more in the end.

Memorial Day weekend was along one full of fun, enjoyment, participation in all sports such as fishing, crabbing (both soft and hard), skiing, boating, sailing, picnicking, house parties, beach parties, etc.

Fishing was an on and off proposition. Speckle trout fishing wasn't too hot. Fresh water fishing continued good with bass and perch being caught most everywhere. The weather was plenty hot during the day with temperatures up to 85 or better. Bass and perch were hitting best from 4 p.m. to dark. There were low tides in the afternoon and nights which made it ideal for catching fresh water fish, soft crabs and even flounders.

Frogs are plentiful if you know where to find 'em. Several good catches have been reported. We have a number of real frog catchers hereabout who know where and how to catch them. Ate some frog legs the other night. "Try them, you'll like them."

Always meet folks who love to fish. Two of those are Ronnie and Darlene Peterson. They fish regularly and hunt when the seasons are open. They enjoy the outdoors.

D.B. Murphy gives me many tips on who is catching fish. He is a walking reporter. Enjoys getting around watching people fish and what they are getting. Dan fishes himself.

Bueford Parker and his family are having a good run catching fish daily. They are getting, speckles, bull croakers, sheephead and hard crabs which are making their appearance in numbers. They fish most anywhere.

Jim Gaudet of New Orleans does quite a bit of fishing in our midst. He loves fly fishing but does most any kind. They are getting a home in Shore Line Park. There is plenty of good fishing in that neck of the woods.

Ogden Kergosien enjoys fishing but also enjoys watching others catch them. He is a good paddler too. Valma his wife catches her share of soft crabs. Haven't gone out after them yet, she said.

Herb and Kitey Pettigrew are another couple who like fishing and hunting. Herb catches the fish and Kitey loves eating them. She also loves to catch hard crabs.

A party of three out from Pearlington on a fishing trip had the misfortune of having their boat sink in LePelt Pass last week. The men were picked up and brought to shore by the crew of a trawler. Might be a good idea to watch out for this sunken boat while going through the Pass.

Visited Buck's Place over at North Shore last week. This has been a popular place with fishermen for years. It is still operated by Buck Cornbe. A spot where fishermen meet and discuss their catches. North Shore over in Louisiana is noted for where bit speckles are caught almost the year round. Right now it is hard to rent a boat. They are rented on a first come first serve basis. 4 a.m. is a good time to get there to go fishing and get a boat.

What appears to be a world record fish was caught recently from Ross Barnett Reservoir.

A 17-pound bowfin, commonly called a grinnel by Mississippi fishermen, was pulled from the 33,000 acre reservoir on May 10 by Oliver Leonard of Canton.

The current world record is 16 pounds, 12 ounces belongs to a Texan, Joe Woods, Jr. He caught his fish at Lake Murvaul, Texas.

Leonard landed his bowfin below Highway 43 on a diving plug while fishing for largemouth bass.

It was weighed by Jack Herring, and witnessed by Jim Barr, area manager of Pearl River Waterfowl Area.

The Barnett bowfin was 34 inches long. The current world record measured 33 inches.

Appropriate procedures are presently being taken by Leonard and the State Game and Fish Commission to have the fish recognized officially as a world standard.

Recent legislation broadening the scope of Mississippi's primitive firearms seasons should open more hunting territory to muzzleloader enthusiasts this fall, according to the State Game and Fish Commission.

The legislature passed a bill giving the Commission authority to set primitive firearms seasons on areas outside wildlife management areas, where hunting has been confined for the past two years. The special seasons may run for not more than a total of 15 days during the archery seasons and from the first Saturday in December through December 10, at the discretion of the Commission.

Areas that can be opened include public hunting projects or prescribed areas having surplus deer populations.

The Commission will announce later the open areas.

Additional sea-run striped bass and walleye have been obtained by the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission for stocking in state waters.

Approximately 500,000 strippers were shipped to the State from South Carolina. About 1,250,000 walleye came from Iowa.

The strippers, which are presently being caught at Barnett Reservoir from stockings over the past three years, will be placed in suitable waters across the State.

Walleye are native to Mississippi. A population exists in the Tombigbee River system of the State but fisheries biologists feel the number of native fish is small.

These Iowa walleye will hopefully supplement the native species and revive the sport fish to catchable numbers.

A user fee will be charged. Licensed hunters this fall on three wildlife management areas owned by the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

Sportsmen participating in public hunts on Marion County, Copiah County and Malmalson areas must purchase a $3 permit. The permit will be valid all year at any of the three areas. Persons under 18 and over 65 are exempt.

An increase from $3 to $5 will be made on permits to hunt waterfowl on the Game and Fish Commission's grantee shooting reservoirs. All waterfowl hunters regardless of age are required to purchase user permit before hunting.

Mounting operational costs for additional services provided has been given as the reason for these fees.

In addition to the permits, sportsmen must have in possession all other necessary licenses, tags and stamps

Bob Dahlstrom has gotten back to fishing in a big way. He is doing salt water fishing but intends to do some fly fishing soon. Bob is getting his share of fish.

Those going out for speckles and reds report they are not doing so well. The speckles have sort of layed off for the time being.

Nice size croakers are being caught mostly in Bayou Caddy by the canals. Some flounders are also being caught there. No effort to get to this spot.

Billy Bacon a prominent lawyer from Hattiesburg came down to do some green trout fishing the other day. He had a good day bringing them in. Billy was the guest of John Scaffie, old time friend. Yours truly was his fishing partner.

Respect the hot weather. Go fishing around 3:00 p.m. You will have plenty of time to fish until dark. Bass and perch do best at this time.

Earth worms, crickets, grass hoppers or other bugs attract bass and perch. Best of all find a catwapa tree. There are some around. The Catwapa worms can't be beat for still fishing. They can also be used on the fly rod with a very light leader.

Mrs. Joe Griffith, one of our best soft crabbers, like most of us is waiting for the crabs to start giving. When they are there she will be there.

Hospital Prepared During Ingram Fire

Within minutes after the violent explosion at the Ingram Industries plant in the Kiln last week, 27 staff members at Hancock General Hospital were mobilized in the emergency room area, ready for any eventuality.

At 2:55 p.m. Wednesday a call was received from the Bay St. Louis Civil Defense director warning of a possible influx of emergency patients.

By 3:10 all hospital department heads were notified of the disaster, 3 p.m. shift personnel were held on stand-by and most staff physicians called.

As is usually the case in times of disaster, an excessive number of calls come into the hospital, mostly from the curious and those wanting information.

Mrs. Mona Santiago, assistant administrator, immediately moved to switchboard screening incoming calls. She placed one girl in the front office and two in the emergency room for admitting procedure.

The hospital's two-way radio system, ordinarily kept at the nurses station, was brought into the administrator's office where he switched to the open emergency channel to maintain constant communication with two area funeral homes for ambulance service and information.

The first concern of maintenance engineer Joseph Williams, on learning the nature of the disaster, was the ice machines. In a short time he had 400 pounds of ice available for use in treating burn victims.

Erskine Skelton, purchasing and supply officer, checked to be sure all emergency supplies were available and brought extra identification bands to the emergency room. These are special bands for emergency use only and the patient's name and assigned number can be written in with an indelible pencil as he comes in the door.

As a registered Licensed Practical Nurse, Skelton was also on call to nursing services if needed in that capacity.

Supervisor of Nursing Services Mrs. Denise McDowell called four nurses into service in the emergency admitting area and opened the inter-connecting doors to be able to accommodate four patients at one time. The recovery room was designated a holding room for ambulatory patients requiring a minimum of medical attention, and for hysteria patients.

Mrs. Marion Dunsen, chief housekeeper, assigned three of her staff to assist in the emergency rooms, and as backup nurses' assistants.

A breakdown of staff members involved in the disaster operation showed six in nursing services, five in admitting, two in maintenance, two in the laboratory, three in X-ray, four from housekeeping, four in dietary and one in pharmacy.

At a later department head meeting, Blackledge highly commended the staff for what he termed a smooth, professional operation under disaster conditions. By 7 p.m. that night, Blackledge said 40 persons had been given emergency treatment, mostly for phosphorus inhalation, and all but two released.

"I'm really proud of our people in the hospital," he stated, "Especially for the way they responded to the situation."

A number of off duty and former staffers called in immediately offering to help, and all of the staff doctors who were in the area came in.

Blackledge also praised other hospitals in a three-county area as well as law enforcement personnel, all of whom he commended for cooperation and assistance.

L.O. Crosby Memorial Hospital in Piquette stayed on stand by until 7 p.m. that evening, he said.

Hurricane Camille in 1969 was the proving ground for emergency operations at the hospital, Blackledge explained. That experience taught administrators and staff the value of a radio system to maintain outside communication as well as an emergency generator, geared to turn on automatically as soon as the regular one fails.

Since Camille, the hospital has acquired two such generators, one large one to provide power for all hospital systems and the other a smaller manually-operated machine, which keeps the water pump in service.

Without water, Blackledge said, a hospital cannot stay in service. All other systems can be substituted but that one.

School To Present Awards To Star Student, Teacher

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (Star) Awards are to be presented June 5th at Coast Episcopal High School commencement exercises which will be held in Christ Episcopal Church, Bruce Luck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Luck of Pass Christian, has been named Star Student, and Mrs. Donald S. Coffey the Star Teacher.

Mr. Peter Psikogios, principal of the school, said that the Star Student was one of the two students who scored highest on the American College Test, and having the higher scholastic average during the first semester of the senior year.

The Star Teacher was chosen by Luck as the teacher who made the greatest contribution to his scholastic achievement.

The Star Awards were symbolized by framed certificates and signed by MEC President Joseph Dale of Prentiss and R.B. Lampton of Jackson, chairman of the MEC Education Committee.

The purpose of the MEC project, under the direction of the Education Committee, is to emphasize the importance of scholastic achievement and to encourage greater effort in this direction by Mississippi students; and to honor the teaching profession.

Benton Cain of Jackson, chairman of the special Star Committee, reports that approximately 220 Mississippi high schools are participating in the program which is in its seventh year of operation.

James O. Eastland, the farm boy from Sunflower County, is today one of the most powerful voices on Capitol Hill. Through his representation, the people of Mississippi can be heard above the screams of ultra-liberals. Because of his influence in Washington, the needs of Mississippi are known by both executive and legislative branches of our federal government. Because he loves his state and this nation so well, Jim Eastland has gained a reputation among Washington legislators matched by few in the history of this country. As guardian of fundamental democratic principles, as the Senate's chief antagonist of communism, and as Mississippi's most powerful voice in the nation's capital, Jim Eastland has earned the confidence and the trust of Mississippians. Let's keep Jim Eastland on the job.

When Mississippi needs a voice in Washington, Jim Eastland is there.

PROUD GRADUATES... Our Lady of the Gulf school recently held "commencement" exercises for the kindergarten.

OLG Kindergarten Has Graduation

Graduation exercises for Our Lady of the Gulf kindergarten were held recently at 7:00 in the school cafeteria. The children wore traditional caps and gowns of pink and blue. The program presented by the children prior to receiving diplomas was entitled "When I Grow Up." This was done in rhyme, with the children speaking as a group and also individually. Diplomas were then presented by Rev. Gregory J. Johnson, Pastor, Sister Patricia Brandner Principal and Mrs. Donald Compretta, kindergarten teacher. Perfect attendance ribbons were awarded to Matthew Steffel and Christine Glibber.

Miss Diane Martinalich 6th grade student at O.L.G. and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A.K. Martinalich of Bay St. Louis was mistress of ceremonies. The program was concluded with two songs "The Little White Duck" and "Kindergarten Days are over," accompanied by Mrs. Compretta on guitar and lead by Matt Steffel.

Refreshments were served immediately following with Mesdames M.J. Glibber and Jake Marreale serving. Mrs. Glibber served as room mother for the class.

Members of the 1972 class are: Christine Marie Glibber, Deanna Marie Demoran.

VA guaranteed 91,200 home loans to veterans in the first quarter of 1972, a 123 percent jump in the number recorded during the same period last year.

Sacred Heart Brothers To Celebrate Anniversaries

Six Brothers of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart will celebrate the anniversary of their entrance into the religious life. Brother Aquinas Vanderhoven and Brother Oswin Horner will celebrate their fiftieth anniversary, and Brother Carl Evans, David Toups, Joachim Parr, and Ramon Dauris will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary. These Brothers will be honored at a special celebration at Saint Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis on June 4.

Jaycees Elect New Officers

Raymond Thomas has been elected president of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees. Other officers elected are: Albert Biehl III, first vice-president; J.P. Compretta, second vice-president; James Smith, secretary; Bill Hart, treasurer and Jim Chiniche, state director.

The Jaycees announced that any young man between the ages of 18-36 who would like to join the organization is asked to call membership chairman Jim Smith at 467-5231.

Brother Aquinas, whose home town is Alexandria, Louisiana, entered the brotherhood on December 24, 1922. He has taught in schools in the following states: Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Indiana, Alabama and New Jersey. He is presently living at McGill Institute in Mobile, Alabama.

Brother Oswin was born in Amarillo, Texas, and entered the Brothers from St. Aloysius High School in New Orleans. He has taught in schools in Indiana, Louisiana, New York, Mississippi and Alabama. He has spent over thirty years in Africa serving in the missions of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

Brother Carl entered the brotherhood from St. Aloysius High School in Vicksburg, Mississippi. He has taught in schools in Louisiana, Alabama, Texas and Mississippi. He has also spent three years teaching in the mission schools of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart in Africa, and he is now teaching at McGill Institute in Mobile, Alabama.

Brother David Toups, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Toups of Thibodaux, Louisiana, entered the juniorate of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart on September 10, 1947. He has taught in schools in Metuchen, N.J.; Huntington, N.Y.; Bay St. Louis and Natchez, Mississippi; New Orleans, Louisiana; and Mobile, Alabama. He is presently stationed at Catholic High School in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

FATHER EUGENE AHNER, S.V.D., recently visited St. Augustine Seminary where he conducted a course on the Church for the novices. Father Ahner taught at St. Augustine in 1967 when the house of studies for Theology was located there. Since then he has visited St. Augustine annually. Father, who has just completed his comprehensive exams for a doctoral degree in Ecclesiology, hopes to complete and defend his thesis next year. He will return to the local seminary in a few weeks where he and Father Edward Dudink, S.V.D., novice master, will preach a retreat for the religious community. Father Ahner and Father Dudink are presently conducting retreats in three other Divine Word seminaries.

WWI Veterans Against Blanket Amnesty

Hancock County Barracks No. 2537 (Bay St. Louis, Waveland) Veterans of World War I, has unanimously adopted the following resolution which it will present to and sponsor at the Convention of the Department of Mississippi at Louisville, Miss., Friday and Saturday

MILLSAPS GRADUATE
Jo Helyn Walton of Bay St. Louis has graduated from Millsaps College in Jackson. Miss Walton received a degree in biology, graduating cum laude. This honor is based on scholastic achievement at Millsaps.

A total of 135 seniors received diplomas from the Methodist-related school at their 80th commencement exercises. This was the largest group of students to receive degrees from the College since 1950.

PHONE DIRECTORY

It's time for telephone customers to take a second look at their listings in the Mississippi Coast Telephone Directory. Closing date for changes in listings will be June 8, 1972.

"If you would like to have listings changed, be sure to call the Business Office by June 8th," F.M. Kayle Jr., District Manager for South Central Bell, said today. "Customers should also let us know if they want to list other members of the family."

The new directory will be delivered beginning August 8, 1972.

June 23. According to Barracks Commander Ed J. Arceneaux, the approved resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS, we the members of the Department of Mississippi, Veterans of World War I, USA, believe that the United States is the greatest nation on this earth and bestows upon its citizens cherished rights and privileges unknown to most of the nations of the world, AND

WHEREAS, we believe that its citizens have an obligation to defend those rights and privileges by serving in the Armed Forces when called upon so to do, AND

WHEREAS, its manpower has fought with distinction to preserve this nation from its enemies, from Bunker Hill to Vietnam, AND

WHEREAS, of recent years some of the youth of our country have deserted from or have refused to serve their Country in its Armed Forces and have fled to sanctuary in Canada, Sweden and other countries, AND

WHEREAS, there are those who are proposing to blanket and complete amnesty for all deserters and draft evaders, AND

WHEREAS, we believe that each case should be judged upon its own merits, BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Department of Mississippi, Veterans of World War I U.S.A., at Conventions assembled, go on record as being unalterable opposed to any blanket plan for full and complete amnesty for all such deserters and for all those who have refused to serve their Country, AND

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this Resolution be sent to the President of the United States; to United States Senators Stennis and Eastland and to each member of the United States House of Representatives from the State of Mississippi.

THIS YEAR,
FOR THE FIRST TIME
SINCE 1932,
WE'LL ELECT A
NEW CONGRESSMAN.

AND IN 1972
WE NEED A NEW KIND OF CONGRESSMAN.

After all, a lot of things have changed since Hoover and Roosevelt slugged it out for the presidency.

Mississippi, for one. The Congress, for another.

With the growth of the national government during the last forty years the decisions our representatives make in Washington have come to affect each of us more rapidly, more directly than ever before.

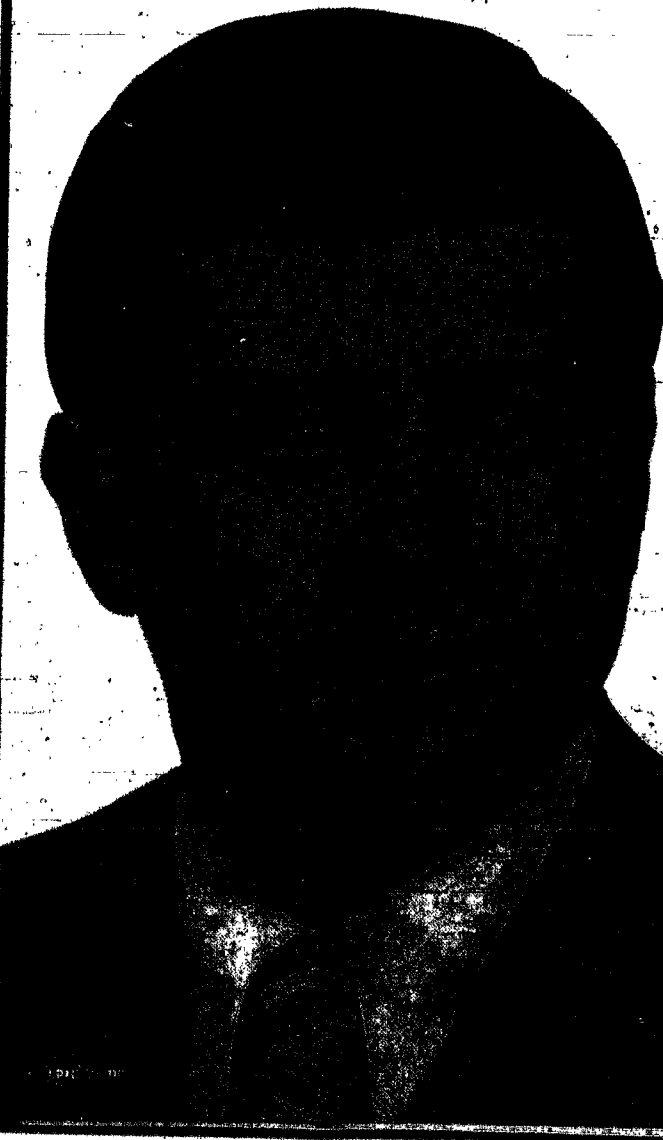

And the continuing acceleration of change in America has led voters to begin sending a new breed of men to serve in Congress. Better informed, more decisive men—like Judge Howard Patterson.

Judge Patterson's position on Mississippi's Tenth Chancery Court calls for him to make decisions every day, all alone, that affect the lives of others. And that responsibility has taught him to listen to others. Responsibility has bred responsiveness.

Above all, our congressman must be responsive to our wishes and opinions. And that quality, above all, is what distinguishes Judge Patterson's candidacy from all the rest: he listens more than he lectures.

On June 6th, when we vote for a new congressman, let's vote for a new kind of congressman as well.

Howard Patterson. He'll listen. And we can trust him.

HOWARD

The Story Of Food Center's Beef

You can depend on Food Center Beef because Food Center Beef is doubly inspected for your quality protection. Food Center uses only U.S. Gov't. Choice grade beef. Food Center's beef is first inspected by a U.S. Gov't. grader who marks it with the Gov't. Grade Choice seal. Then Bill Wallace, Food Center's own meat inspector (thoroughly trained in quality inspection, selects from this Choice Beef for Food Center's own high standards. That's why we say, Food Center makes doubly sure its beef is the best.

Bridge Group Opens Building In Gulfport

Members of the Bay Duplicate Bridge Club were present in the large crowd in Gulfport recently for the opening of the new Gulf Coast Bridge Association building. The building is the first in the state to be designed and constructed exclusively for duplicate competition. All of the larger duplicate bridge games in the Biloxi-Gulfport area will hold their meetings in this facility.

Among the Bay Club members present for the opening festivities were Club director C.D. Pierce and Mrs. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Garner, Miss Amelia Scaife, Mrs. Mildred Means, Mrs. Virginia Fox, Mrs. Richard Gilbert, Don O'Neill, and Martin Stegenga.

Jason H. Floyd, president of the Gulf Coast Bridge Association began the opening ceremonies by welcoming the out-of-town guests. Players and guests then watched as Dr. Kermit Chadwick, Mrs. E.C. Thompson, Boyce Holleman, and Fred Marx played the first bridge hand in the new building. A one session duplicate game followed by refreshments concluded the festivities.

With fifty-eight pairs competing, first place winners of the first duplicate game in the new building were Mrs. Clint Hamilton and Mrs. Eugene Hart. Second place was won by Douglas McKay and Mrs. Peggy Leonard. Both pairs were awarded silver trophies.

Third place was captured by Mrs. Bernice Emile and Val Lundy, and Bay Duplicate Club members were prominently represented in the winners.

Mrs. Mildred Means and Miss Amelia Scaife were fifth in their section, while Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Pierce placed sixth in their section.

The building is located on Oleander Drive in East Gulfport. The floor space was designed to accommodate forty tables of bridge. Carpeting, acoustic tile, and panelling help minimize the noise that often accompanies tournament play.

The building includes a kitchen which will be used for coffee and light refreshments and also for the Unit's buffets which are customarily served at two-session events.

Kindergarten Students Given "Degrees"

The annual Graduation exercises of the Kindergarten Class of Christ Episcopal Day School was held at Virginia Hall Sunday. The program was directed by Mrs. L.R. Stehling, Kindergarten teacher. Art work was done by Mrs. Kinta Maloney.

The theme of this year's program was "When I Grow Up." Ray Willett, third grade student was the acting principal presenting each graduate with a "Bachelor of Rhymes."

As a special surprise Mr. Priskogis, principal, Mr. Tedford, Music Director, and Mrs. Johnson, French teacher were all presented with Honorary Degrees.

Parents and children were entertained with a reception following the ceremonies. Mrs. Rowe Crowder and Mrs. Roger Crull presided at the table serving cake and punch, while Mrs. John Christenson and Mrs. Ronald Artiques served cupcakes and punch to the children. The tables were decorated by Mrs. Ashman.

This was indeed a very special ceremony as it marked the end of the teaching career of CEDS' beloved kindergarten teacher, Mrs. R.L. Stehling or "Miss Ann" as she was come to be known, will be retiring after serving the faculty for 20 years.

Graduates were: Ronie Artiques, Mechele Ashman, Mechele Blenveny, Conrad Brolt, B.B. Bryan, John Christensen, Susie Christensen, Greg Crorder, Noelle Crull, Courtney Egar, Carroll Glindmeyer, Lann Kern, Keller Kuhnner, Lisa Lueders, Missy McDonald, John McIntyre, David McIver, Christy McNeal, Tish Ortiz, David Peranich, Leslie Penleton, Tanya Prater, Warren Seymour, Jr., Amanda Stegenga.

Echoes

Mrs. Donald Simmons of Waveland, who underwent open heart surgery two weeks ago at Ochsner Foundation Hospital, New Orleans, has been discharged and is recuperating nicely at her home.

PARENTS shouldn't be the last to know

The temptation of drug abuse to our youth has become a serious problem.

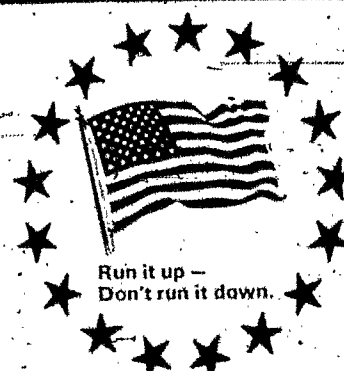

A lot of them are the kind of kids you'd least expect to become addicted.

If you are a parent and you are frightened by all this, you should be.

Authorities say that of all the many young people who start experimenting with drugs, out of curiosity, ONE in every THREE will become a regular user.

Don't be the last to know. Be informed on DRUG ABUSE and "How to tell if your kids are on drugs". Hundreds of informative materials are available at no charge. Your government, local health and medical units, Red Cross and many more... all want to help.

The 'life' you save, may be your own youngster.

Annunciation School News

On Friday, May 12 the seventh and eighth grades took a trip to Baton Rouge, La. to visit the Planetarium, housed in the old Governor's mansion. The tour was very interesting and was enjoyed very much by all. After this tour, they also visited the New Capitol and were able to attend a session of the Legislature which was in Session.

The students were accompanied on their trip by their teacher, Sister John Christopher, Mrs. Doris Wyatt,

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Mary Jane Chapman, bride-elect of Gerald Von Antz, was honored with a linen shower May 14 hosted by Mrs. W. T. Hensley at her Felicity Street home.

Arrangements of daisies and variegated carnations, the bride's chosen flowers, were used throughout the house. The honoree was presented a corsage of variegated carnations and baby's breath and the mothers, Mrs. Russell Chapman, and Mrs. Geraldine Von Antz, were each given a white carnation corsage.

Saturday, Mrs. Edwin Larroux entertained with a lingerie shower for Miss Chapman at her home on Harrison Court.

A yellow color scheme was used in the decorations with arrangements of daylilies throughout the reception rooms.

Miss Chapman and Mr. Von Antz will be married June 3 in the First Baptist Church.

Student Report Due

Students 18 and over who get monthly social security payments have an important "assignment" due before the end of the school year, according to social security officials here.

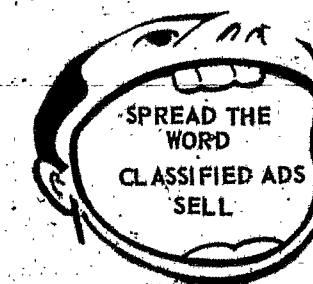

Full-time students in school who are 18 and over and remain unmarried can get monthly checks from social security until they're 22—if a parent gets social security benefits, or if a parent has died after working long enough under social security.

"About 380,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools get $52 million a month from social security," a spokesman said.

A reporting card is mailed to each student beneficiary about 3 months before the end of the school year. The student's "assignment" is to fill in the card and mail it back to social security as soon as possible, the spokesman said.

"This attendance report is used to determine if the student can continue to get monthly checks," he said. "Any delay in returning the reporting card could mean a delay in payments for the student."

Any student in the area who needs help with the report or information about his benefits can call any social security office, the spokesman said.

Who can do as much for the fifth district as Bill Colmer has?

Representative Bill Colmer is one of the best-loved men in the Congress. And one of the most effective. It would be presumptuous for a man to compare himself to Bill Colmer and his splendid record. But Bill Colmer has earned a rest; he has chosen to retire. It is time to compare those men who are candidates for the seat he holds. We ask you to consider Daniel D. Guice as your representative.

Dan Guice is about the same age that Rep. Colmer was when he first went to Congress. Dan is the mayor of Biloxi, just finishing his third term. He worked hard, and his city has a lot to show for it. Before that he served in the Mississippi Legislature; and on the A & I Board. He serves on the Advisory Board of the National League of Cities. You will be able to examine his record during the campaign. But first, you probably want to know something else.

WHAT KIND OF A MAN IS DAN GUICE?

He is a descendant of a family of plain people who have lived in Mississippi since 1790. Many members of this family served our country in times of war; several gave their lives in battle. Dan's father, W. L. Guice, was a self-educated man who came down from Natchez to Biloxi where he worked on the schooners before Dan was born. He read for the bar and became a practicing attorney in Harrison County, and saw that all eight of his children went through college.

Dan paid part of his own college expenses by working in Westergaard Shipyard, and as a postoffice employee. After graduating from Ole Miss, he financed his law studies at Tulane by teaching in Biloxi High School.

While a high school student, Dan was active in sports, particularly football and track. He held several class offices, was elected President of the National Honor Society and was the first student senator to represent Mississippi at a National Student Congress sponsored by the American Legion. In college he was president of his fraternity and of the Pan-Hellenic Council. He was also a member of Phi Delta Phi and the Moot Court Board, both honorary legal fraternities. He has been a successful practicing attorney for twenty-five years.

He is a man of deep religious convictions, being a member of the First Methodist Church, where he was superintendent of the church school for many years. He is fair and reasonable in all his approaches to his fellow man, having a deep and abiding respect for the rights and opinions of all men.

The only real criticism of Dan came from someone who works for him in the City Hall. "He's too easy-going, too kind," this young woman said, "He'll take the blame for something himself rather than hurt the person responsible."

Among politicians, Dan is an unusual man. He manages to accomplish a great deal, without appearing to push anyone. He is a consummate diplomat, which seems to come from respect for others' feelings rather than any conscious plan.

He has been responsible for many important public projects, involving millions of dollars and thousands of new jobs for the Coastal counties, yet when you look at the publicity photos, you never find Dan in the center. As one friend remarked, "It's surprising what you can get done, if you don't care who gets the credit."

Another long-time friend of Dan's said, "I think Dan Guice is one of the most under-estimated men in Mississippi."

Dan has what is probably the most important asset a public man can have: a loving, loyal family whose company he thoroughly enjoys. Their love for Dad is obvious. While this picture was being taken, the photographer was thoroughly entertained by the stream of funny remarks they directed at each other. Good humor, hospitality, and love characterize this family.

Mrs. Guice, the former Margaret Barrett, is a fine singer and member of the church choir, and an active member of the Young Matrons Circle. Daniel, Jr., is a freshman at Ole Miss. Barry is in junior high in Biloxi, where he is following in his father's footsteps as an outstanding scholar. Carolyn, married two months, lives with her husband in Houston.

This is a very important election. We ask that you pay close attention to the candidates' records and intentions as they are revealed to you during the campaign.

We believe that you will conclude, as we have, that Daniel D. Guice is the man best qualified to carry on in Bill Colmer's place.

Respectfully submitted,

Alfred H. Hunsicker

and paid for by a group of public-spirited citizens.

Marine Briefs

(COURTESY OF GULF COAST RESEARCH LABORATORY)

SHRIMP
Landings of shrimp in Mississippi during the first three months of 1972 amount to 190 thousand pounds. This was the highest first quarter landings of any of the past five years and was 50 thousand pounds greater than the average of the previous four years (1968-1971). REASON: More shrimp, better weather, and greater effort. Improved price structure contributed to greater effort. EXAMPLE: Exposed prices for 29-33 cent headless shrimp were from 68 to 71 cents higher than a year ago. In other words shrimpers were catching more shrimp and getting more money for them.

COLD STORAGE: Total U.S. holdings of all types of shrimp were 63.4 million pounds. The highest holdings of any of the past five years and 11.3 million pounds greater than the four year average (1968-1971).

IMPORTS: Total U.S. imports of shrimp were 46.0 million pounds for January-March 1972, 5.4 million pounds greater than the previous year and 4 million greater than the four year average (1968-1971). Current Research Observations - By J.V. Christmas, Staff Marine Biologist.

Brown shrimp postlarvae entered the nursery grounds in large numbers during February, March, and April. Average catches for the 90-day period were a little higher than 1971, although the March average was somewhat lower. Good survival and rapid growth were apparent through April. Since the best growth and survival of brown shrimp occur in 1/4 to 1/2 seawater, the extremely heavy rainfall on May 7 and 8, lowering the salinity of the nursery grounds, could change the prospects for another outstanding crop of brown shrimp in Mississippi Sound.

Current studies continue to emphasize the importance of marsh productivity in the success of penaeid shrimp populations.

OYSTERS
Production of oysters during the 1st quarter of 1972, for processing in Mississippi, amounted to 801,130 lbs. of meats, valued at $372,568. This was 534,000 pounds less than the average of the previous 5 years (1967-1971). However, this does not take into account almost 4,000 barrels of oysters, taken on Mississippi reefs but hauled to Alabama for processing. The average price per pound of oyster meats was 41.8 cents compared with 38 cents the previous year. This was the best price since 1970, following Hurricane Camille. Ganning activity was about the same as the 1st quarter of last year.

OYSTERS MOVED FOR DEPURATION: During the closed season of 1971, 4,100 barrels of oysters were removed from closed areas in Biloxi Bay to Bayou Graveline for natural depuration (natural cleansing). The work was supervised by the Commission's chief law enforcement officer and the consultant biologist for the Commission.

OYSTER DISEASE: Studies of tissue of oysters from three major producing areas showed the oysters to be infected with the fungus disease Labyrinthomyxa (formerly called Dermocystidium). Epidemics of this disease can produce mass mortalities of oysters. Samples from other areas showed the disease to be ubiquitous. These studies were done for the purpose of management.

SURVEY OF OYSTER RESOURCES: An inventory of Mississippi's oyster resources was brought up to date in late 1971 and areas remapped. The inventory revealed a total of 7,425 acres that are productive at this time. This amounts to a slight increase in acreage over 1970.

How to Buy an Automatic Washer

"I'd like to buy a washer," says the shopper. "What do you have in mind?" asks the salesman. "Well, a washer's a washer, isn't it? And they all wash clothes, don't they?" replies the shopper. All automatic washers do wash clothes. But there's much more to buying an automatic washer than just plunking down the cash or signing on the dotted line. The shopper should determine her needs and her budget, then found out as much as possible about the models and brands of automatic washers available by comparison shopping. But so much for that shopper. How would you shop for a washer? Leslie Paige of the Whirlpool Corporation says, take a few minutes now to answer these questions and you'll be better prepared to shop.

What do you usually wash? In the past, washables were cotton, so you needed only one cycle. But with today's variety of washable fabrics you need a choice of cycles to wash everything properly. Permanent press requires special laundering care. So look for a washer with a permanent press cycle that does the most effective job. How can you tell if it will do a good job? The critical factor is the way the washer cools the clothes to avoid wrinkling during the spin. Lingerie and man-made fibers are better off with special care, too. Look for a gentle cycle or some other means for washing delicacies.

If you wash heavily soiled clothes like work pants, diapers or children's play clothes, then look for a washer with a heavy-duty or super-wash cycle. How much do you wash? Small or large loads? Once a day or once a week? If you have a large family or one that dirties a lot of clothes, you might consider purchasing one of the extra-capacity washers now on the market. If you wash one or a few items at a time, look for a variable water level setting or some other method for washing small loads. Do you have lots of time to wash? Features like automatic bleach and fabric softener dispensers add these laundry aids at just the right moment in the cycle...no need to stand by the washer waiting for that time to arrive. An effective lint filter can save time by eliminating brushing or picking lint off clothes after the wash. Ask the salesman to explain how each type of lint filter operates. Some lint filters, for example, clean themselves automatically and work at all water level settings, while some do not. Where will you locate the laundry equipment? Existing facilities, such as plumbing and electricity already in the basement, may determine this for you. But if not, consider a more convenient location...such as a hallway closet, utility room, bathroom or kitchen. Might you be better off with a new convertible/portable model? If you live in an apartment, rent a home or move often, then investigate the many models available today that do not require permanent installation. What kind of service can you expect from your new washer? Here are some indicators to look for: The reputation of brands and dealers; ask your friends if they were satisfied and check with the Better Business Bureau. The warranty: manufacturers may express the terms of their warranty differently, but be sure you understand what is and what is not covered. Quality: some manufacturers have built-in service-saving features. Ask the salesman to point them out. If you've answered these questions and evaluated your needs, you'll be able to do a better job of selecting the best automatic washer for you.

EXPERIENCE MEANS A LOT IN CONGRESS.

For the past four years, Trent Lott has served as administrative assistant to Congressman William Colmer.

During that time, Trent Lott has worked closely with members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the powerful House Rules Committee.

Trent Lott has earned the respect and encouragement of Congress, and can represent South Mississippi in the Colmer tradition. But Trent Lott asks for your vote as a Republican. He thinks the Republican Party best shares the viewpoint of South Mississippians. When you consider the type of programs being asserted by the National Democrat Party, you begin to understand why Trent Lott believes only a Republican can effectively represent South Mississippi in the Colmer tradition.

Vote for Trent Lott in the June 6 Republican primary.

Trent Lott will carry on in the Colmer tradition.

MONTHLY MEETING

Young Homemakers held their monthly meeting last Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Andre Arceneaux with Mrs. James Monstra as co-hostess.

Mrs. Arceneaux, vice president, conducted the brief business session. The group made stuffed animals for children patients at Hancock General Hospital.

Plans were made for the June 21 meeting and beach party to be held at 7:30 p.m. on the beach at the foot of Washington Street.

DAWN PATROL

Navy Fireman Andre B. Lizana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Lizana of 451 Webster St., Bay St. Louis took part in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's operation "Dawn Patrol" aboard the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy in the Mediterranean.

The exercise involved our Sixth Fleet and the navies of eight other NATO nations, and was designed to strengthen allied coordination during combined forces operations.

DEDICATION POSTPONED

Dedication ceremonies for Commagere Park, newest public recreation facility developed by Bay Operation Upturn, have been delayed. Originally scheduled for May 29, ceremonies will be held at a later date.

The park is situated on St. Francis and Booker streets and is the largest and most complete community recreation area within the city.

BLUE CRABS

Production during the first three months of 1972 amounted to 90.5 thousand pounds, down 11.2 thousand pounds from a year ago. The crab industry has suffered more from a lack of recruitment of young men into the industry than from a scarcity of crabs. As the older crabbers retire there just aren't enough young men replacing them.

COLD STORAGE: Total U.S. holdings of 6.5 million pounds on March 31, were 1.8 million less than a year ago. Prices for crab meat were improved over those of a year ago.

The number centillion is a one followed by 600 zeros.

A Gem Of A Recipe

For many people, treasurable recipes are those that combine commonplace ingredients in new and exciting ways. Such a gem of a recipe is Glazed Ham Balls. Herb seasoned stuffing croutons containing a blend of eight herbs and spices are teamed with ground ham and pork in this all-occasion main dish. Topped with a sweet and tangy sauce of brown sugar, corn syrup, vinegar and dry mustard, Glazed Ham Balls is a natural for leftover ham. Kiki Kallagis suggests serving two ham balls atop pineapple rings, garnished with parsley and a tomato wedge.

GLAZED HAM BALLS

- |  |                                   |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 2 cups herb seasoned stuffing croutons | 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1 cup milk                             | 3/4 lb. ground ham                |
| 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion     | 3/4 lb. ground pork               |
| 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar      | 2 tablespoons vinegar             |
| 1/4 cup dark corn syrup                | 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard          |

1. Measure herb seasoned stuffing croutons and milk into large mixing bowl; stir to combine. Let stand a few minutes until most of liquid is absorbed; beat until smooth. Add onion and Worcestershire sauce; mix thoroughly.
2. Add ham and pork; mix only until combined. Divide mixture into 12 portions; shape into balls. Place in shallow baking pan.
3. Measure brown sugar, corn syrup, vinegar and mustard into small saucepan; stir to combine. Cook over medium heat until mixture begins to bubble, stirring constantly; cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat. Pour sauce evenly over ham balls.
4. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 40 minutes or until browned.

Yield: 6 servings, 2 Glazed Ham Balls per serving.

Getting back to basics.

This country was founded on certain basic beliefs. The major idea being that the people of this country should and would have a voice in their government. Not just special people, or powerful people, or rich people, but all the people.

If you think Government today has grown so large and complex it's become increasingly ineffective, Stone Barefield hears you. And agrees with you. And wants to do something about it for you.

Stone Barefield wants to return us to the basics. He wants you to be able to voice your wishes and suggestions, and to have them listened to, the way it was meant to be.

And he can do it for you. Because he plays no favorites. He doesn't let others control him. Before voting he takes into consideration how all of the people feel. Which is what a Representative to the United States Congress is supposed to do. Represent.

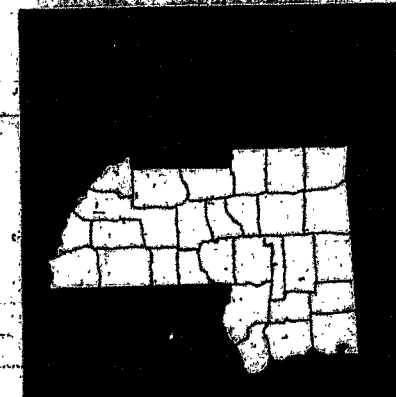

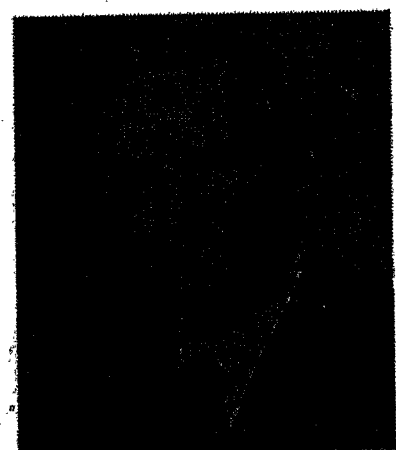

Vote Stone Barefield for Fifth District Congressional Representative June 6. And bring government back to the basics.

DARWIN M. MAPLES for Supreme Court Justice SOUTHERN DISTRICT

A candidate seeking election to the state of Mississippi's highest court should be a man of integrity and judicial experience. As a circuit judge for over nine years, Darwin Maples has proved that he has these qualifications.

Darwin Maples has a proven record of fair and equal justice for all. He has been personally commended by J. Edgar Hoover for conducting his court in keeping with the highest principles of American justice.

A man of high moral principles, Darwin Maples is concerned over the rapidly increasing crime rate. He has worked to establish rehabilitation programs to reduce the high percentage of offenders who return to crime when released from prison. Darwin Maples is active in the Methodist Church and Masonic organizations. He is married to the former Minnie Ellen Woodard, and the couple has two sons, Stephen and Mark.

"Our Supreme Court is a most vital part of our state government.

I know that I can serve you with honesty and sincerely believe that I can serve you with honor and with distinction. I will deeply appreciate your support in my behalf for election to the Mississippi Supreme Court from the Southern District."

THE ROAD IS LONG AND ROCKY

In announcing his candidacy, Bill Andrews squarely faces the issues: choose your course.....! Are the remainder of the seventies to finish in confusion or the great motivations of justice, decency, vision?

Our next Congressman, like the present one, should be:

A man who is able, tested, dedicated; not too proud to ask for help in breaking down the endless barricades that have separated our people and blocked our efforts to pull together. A man who is able to criticize and be criticized; who can translate criticism into constructive action. A man dedicated to improving the district's political climate; who is willing to face the fact that our nation is headed for bankruptcy unless government waste is stopped. A man who will work constantly for constitutional reform so that wheels of government will turn faster.

Scholar, sportsman, soldier, lawyer, legislator...Bill Andrews has worked, has excelled in every endeavor. As a fellow Lamar Countian said, "That Andrews is an individualist. He knows his own mind; he 'belongs' to no one; but he sure works hard for everyone." He recognized that our future, so dependent on our youth, is even more promising as we have left an era of violence and entered into a time of peace and stability. He also recognizes that the aged are entitled to social security benefits to maintain a decent standard of living in the time of heavy inflation rather than a meager subsistence based upon standards of wages attained during depression years. He recognizes that industry alone cannot provide funds for needed environmental protection and continue to provide more and better jobs without prohibitive inflation. He supports industrial growth and development of environmental protection through government aid and direction. Briefly, Bill Andrews is free to represent YOU...without selfish motive or the pressure, financial or otherwise, of any individual or group with strings or obligations to prevent his obtaining the objective or serving ALL the people.

SOUTH MISSISSIPPI NEEDS A FREE MAN

FACE THE ISSUES NOW;
OUR PEOPLE KNOW
THE PROBLEMS,
BILL ANDREWS
WILL WORK TO GET THE ANSWERS.

There is a great deal good about our district; there are many problems. Bill Andrews has taken his campaign to the people; where ever-changing needs are. He has the courage to break with the past and those to seek to preserve it; the ability to recognize what is good and use it; discarding what is not. He is a man who can resist temptation; avoid commitments that prevent a congressman from doing the proper job.

One of the problems is the war abroad. End it. Bring our prisoners of war home as soon as possible. He does not believe the economy is tied to war abroad; nor does he advocate reducing military preparedness. Our country needs its fine military establishment, modern bases and equipment. End the war abroad, honorably, get our boys home.

Another problem: The economy. If we are to have control of prices, wages, of some sort - fairness is imperative! Inefficiency in government and its result, an unbearable tax burden on the average man, must be curtailed. Tax reductions can be effected by increased efficiency of government operations and closing of loopholes for privileged groups and individuals. Unemployment can be reduced; badly needed public service jobs may provide the answer. Ducking the issues; inexperienced leadership and representation are NOT the answer.

At the Right Time for South Mississippi...The right man for Congressman:
BILL ANDREWS

POLITICS AND THE FAMILY

LAMAR SCHOOL, LAUREL, MISS.

Bill Andrews, Purvis attorney, was born in Jones County; reared in Purvis, Lamar County. He attended the public schools of Jones and Lamar counties, Purvis High School, Pearl River Junior College, The University of Southern Mississippi, The University of Mississippi Law School; is a graduate of Mississippi State University. He was admitted to the practice of law August 19, 1952; is a member of the South Central Bar Association, Mississippi Bar Association, American Bar Association. He is a veteran of World War II, with service in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany; is the recipient of the Bronze Star. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and DAV. He served in the state legislature from 1948 to 1952.

The Andrews home in Lamar county is designed for youngsters, friends, pets. Not a showplace, but a house to be lived in. A retreat, but one where politics is not a forbidden word, for the Andrews family has lived with politics for two decades. Daughter-and-sister-in-law, Martha (Mrs. Bill III) enjoys her work with one of the busiest offices in Lamar County (that of a leading physician). For Donna, wife and mother of four, and public health nurse, politics makes life with family more meaningful. Bill works at serving community and fellow citizens. To daughter, Phyllis, politics is trips and people. Bill III works for Dad while studying political science at the University of Southern Mississippi. Daughter, Beth and son, Robert Franklin like what they see happening to Dad...there's pride that goes with the job of doing for others. Campaigns are exciting, interesting, challenging when experienced together.
